FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

April 23, 2014

Local Super Hero Helps the Homeless

He doesn't wear a cape, but Frank McKinney is a super hero. McKinney's larger than life personality and dashing good looks could entice any Marvel comic book reader, but it's his quest to help the less fortunate that earns him the title. By day, McKinney is a real estate entrepreneur and five time best-selling author. After hours, the "dare devil developer" works to help the neediest around the world.

Frank McKinney is the key-note speaker at the 3rd Annual Senator Philip D. Lewis Luncheon on May 14th at the Palm Beach County Convention Center. The super hero themed luncheon will benefit homeless families and children in Palm Beach County.

"Frank McKinney brings flair to the unpopular problem of homelessness," said Marilyn Munoz, executive director of the Homeless Coalition of Palm Beach County. "This is a multi-millionaire who chose to sleep under bridges and in parks to bring attention to the issue of homelessness."

McKinney recently travelled across the United States visiting homeless shelters and soup kitchens to inspire people to act. McKinney also builds housing for the homeless. By the end of 2014, his Caring House Project Foundation would have housed nearly ten thousand people around the world.

Come see this super hero in action at the Senator Philip D. Lewis Luncheon! Join us at noon Wednesday, May 14th at the Palm Beach County Convention Center.
